

Brainstorm!

Your company has made 1000 left shoes. It is imperative that you sell the left shoes so you can buy the machine that makes the right shoes. Your group must figure out a way to sell the 1000 left shoes.

Rules of Brainstorming

- * One member is a scribe and writes down all of the ideas
- * One member is an observer and does not contribute any ideas, but watches the process of brainstorming. The observer will report the results of the brainstorming session, explaining how the ideas came about.

IMPORTANT

All ideas are valid, no matter how impractical they may seem. No ideas will be shot down.

The ideas will not be discussed but the scribe will merely write them down.
